

I can "Chews"
the right

You are playing with two cars, your brother asks if he could play with one, you say "YES!"

You like to watch your favorite show, but your parents say it's time for bed. You choose to cry and scream.

You are making cookies with your Mom, you remember a friend who hasn't come to primary and asks if you can give some to them.

You're brother got a new bike for his birthday, you choose to barrow it without asking.

You're friends come over to play, but your room isn't clean yet, you choose to lie to your Mom and say that you cleaned it.

Your sister is crying because she lost her stuffed animal. Even though you are busy, you choose to stop and help her look for it.

You got in a fight with your brother or sister. Even though you don't feel like it is your fault, you say sorry.

You notice a lonely friend at school and ask if they would like to play with you.

You're sister is hurt, you run and get your Mom and a band aid for her.

You accidentally broke something. You were scared and lied.

Your Mom has had a bad day. You choose to play with your brother or sister to give her a break.

Come Follow Me- for Primary Primary Share a few simple examples of a child making a right choice or a wrong choice, and ask the children to indicate if the choice is right or wrong (they might stand up, hold up signs, or raise their hands). Bear your testimony that Heavenly Father will help us choose the right, and invite the children to share their feelings as well.

Assemble the bubble gum machine. Have each child take a turn to turn the handle and pull off a gum-ball. Then read the situation under the gum-ball. If it was a good choice all the children can stand under the happy face and vise versa.
